VICKY SERANY

My team at Southern Studio and I recently found ourselves tackling the design of a bonus room that needed to serve multiple functions. The spring breeze inspired us when we set out to orchestrate a perfect spot to cherish the quiet moments in life as well as dote on visiting grandchildren.

Tucked away above the garage, built-in twin beds occupy the eaves. We incorporated eggplant velvet lounge chairs to add drama against the blush pink walls and rich gray trim, as well as create a luxurious seating area for reading and relaxing. A selection of crisp white textiles and accessories add a soft beauty to the space that compliments the romance of the double doors opening to the Juliet balcony. The casual sophistication of the room creates a timeless and inviting space that reflects all of the unique personalities that will fill it.
